ZUGSEIL Shop - Configurability

The shop is freely configurable through the definition of one or multiple shopping purposes, which can make the shop appear and work exactly tailored to the needs of your target audiences.

> The benefit of configurability for our customers is less custom development and more configuration. This helps to reduce investment and increases return on invest.

☐

Contents

Fundamental configurability and automation

Each shopping purpose can be defined for:

- Internal procurement platform (IPP) - creating purchase requisitions / internal orders
- B2B shop - creating purchase orders, e.g. for direct purchasing with your suppliers
- B2B shop - creating customer orders, e.g. from your employees

Process flexibility

Each organization and each shopping purpose within the organization has specifics, which have to become covered to provide the maximum return on invest of our customers. Throughout our existance since 1998 we have gathered in depth knowledge on shop configurability and always have refrained to do customer specific solutions, but we always went the extra mile to identify the appropriate abstraction layer of the problem with the correlating level of configurability, to solve problems in a configurable way.

Capabilities beyond shopping

Procurement of goods is only the first process step of the lifecycle of the ordered material. And sometimes the procurement process requires to align to organization rules or legal regulations. Our shop comes with broad support for a manyfold of features before and after the procurement process allowing you to get the maximum digital dividend by have no process breaks.

Well known examples are:

- Workplace equipment management
- Personal protective equipment management

- Improving ecological footprint by warehousing and reuse of equipment
- Uniform management
- Project equipment management
- AI based body scanning and size recognition
- Return processes
- …

Design configurability

Making the shop adhere to your corporate identity is a must, and should not cost a lot. Therefore we have made our UI design configurable.

Related articles

- ZUGSEIL Shop